

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR ON-LINE COMMUNICATION
BASED ON AN OFF-LINE TRANSACTION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A method and system for communicating the approval of a purchase, and also billing for the purchase. Information related to the financial situation of a customer which was obtained from an off-line transaction is stored. Subsequently, a customer desires to enter into an on-line purchase. The previous information obtained from the off-line transaction is utilized to approve of a credit purchase by the customer. In response to such approval, the order may be shipped and subsequently, or simultaneously, an electronic or other bill or receipt is sent.
